MARKING 125 YEARS OF THE WABASH TRADITION

FACULTY page 85

RESIDENCES page 103

From his first day of class the Wabash man becomes imbued with the tradition of his college. The aura of an institution in which scholars have trod for 125 years becomes irretrievably a part of him. Each man bears a solemn burden to the past, an obligation to maintain the standard of excellence which has become identified with Wabash College.

COLLEGE IN CRAWFORDSVILLE, INDIANA

IN THE WABASH TRADITION

Wabash has maintained its all men's environment and liberal arts curriculum since its founding. The founders of the college believed that the source of all knowledge lay in the broad perspective. The success of Wabash graduates in all fields is ample witness to the wisdom of that philosophy.

Wabash College produces men of intellectual honesty, capable of dealing with the problems of their college days and later life. This is due, in part, to the small size and close faculty-student relationship. The Wabash man looks to his professors for aid and guidance, personal and academic. The professor is an entity at Wabash. He is as approachable as a classmate, as understanding as a parent.

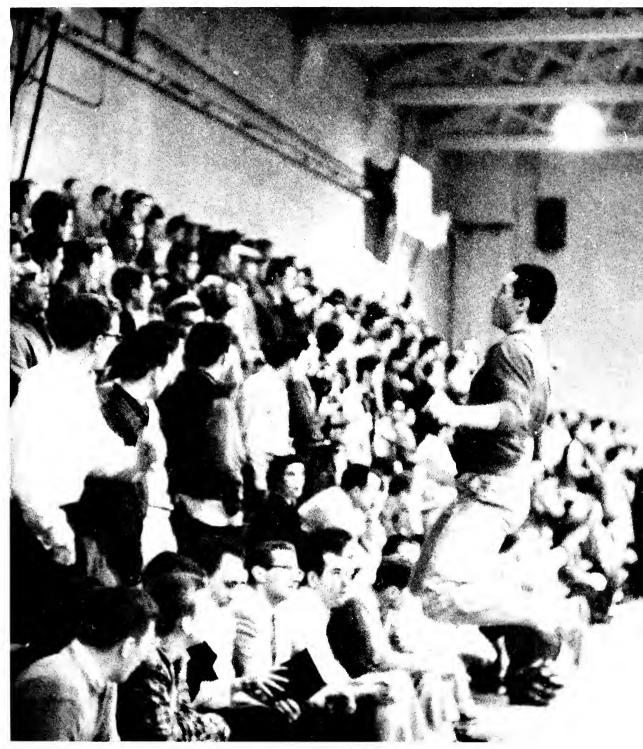

This, then, is the legacy of Wabash College to its undergraduate. This sets him apart from a college man and makes of him a Wabash man. The past is not history to him; it is a part of him.

On October 13, Byron Kightly Trippet, M.A., L.H.D., officially became president of Wabash College. The ceremony renewed the traditional simplicity which characterized the inauguration of Dr. George L. Macintosh and his predecessors in the early history of Wabash.

In formally accepting the presidency, Dr. Trippet continued an association with Wabash College which began thirty years ago. He had formerly been professor of history and dean of the college. Previous to his inauguration, he had received an honorary doctorate of humane letters.

Dr. George V. Kendall, dean of the faculty and himself a former acting president, spoke for the faculty at the ceremony. President Trippet made a brief response.

ground will be broken for a new $1,000,000 library at commencement

President Trippet announced at the fall meeting of the board of trustees that an anonymous donation of $600,000 had been made for the purpose of completing a fund to construct a new library. The library, to be completed at a cost of approximately $1,000,000 is the principle innovation in a five year development program calling for the expenditure of $5,000,000.

This program, to be accomplished by 1960-61, includes conversion of the present library into facilities for a theater for the departments of speech and music and the construction of two new dormitories.

It is anticipated that construction will begin on the new library in the spring or summer of 1957, with ground breaking ceremonies at commencement. The library will have facilities for about 225 students.

division one . . . the physical and natural sciences

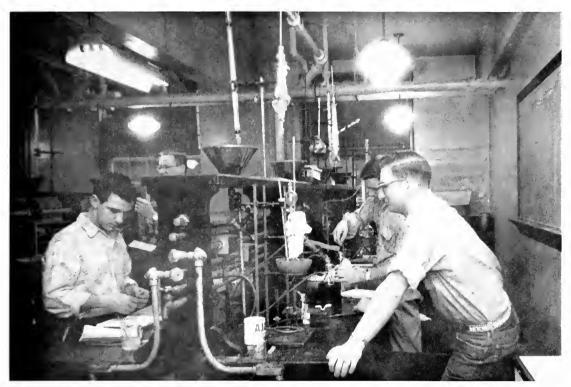

Because of our increasingly scientific world, it is the feeling of Wabash College that the liberally trained man should be acquainted with basic scientific concepts. For this reason each Wabash graduate is required to take at least one physical and one natural science course. Divisional majors may concentrate their study in the fields of botany, chemistry, mathematics, physics, or zoology.

Dean George V. Kendall, professor of English, head of division two

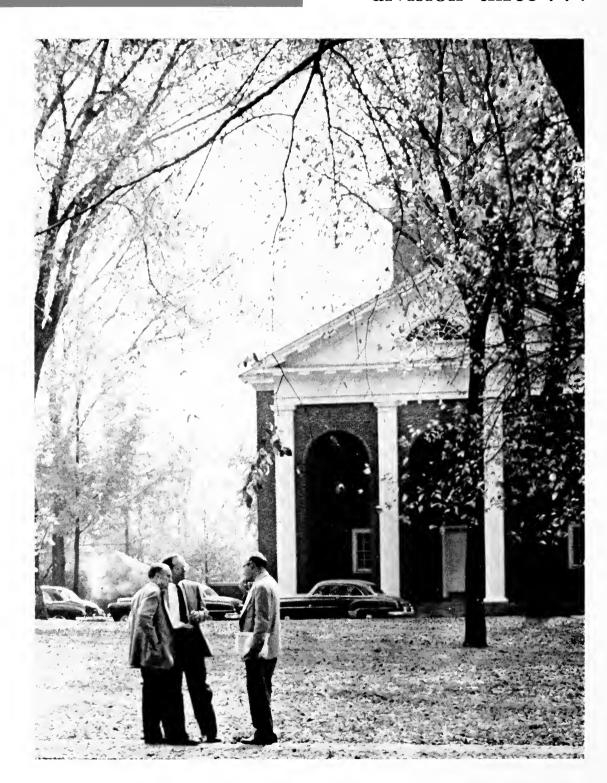

The historical basis of the liberal arts education rests in this division. Courses are offered in English, fine arts, language, music, philosophy, religion, and speech. Wabash men are required to take English, foreign language and another course in the division before graduation. These requirements are grounded on the belief that a man who knows nothing of the "letters" is not an educated man. Division chairman George V. Kendall will retire next year, after 37 years of service to Wabash.

The understanding of community dynamics, in its multifold forms, is one of the goals of division three. To better enable its graduates to cope with the world about them, Wabash College requires each student to take at least twelve hours of work in this sector. Division majors may concentrate their study in economics, history, political science, or psychology.

IN THE WABASH TRADITION: ACTIVITIES

HONORARIES

Phi Beta Kappa

The most coveted honor a Wabash scholar can receive is election to Phi Beta Kappa. This national scholastic fraternity was established on the Wabash campus in 1898.

Each year, not more than twelve per cent of the graduating class is selected for membership in Phi Beta Kappa. Junior Phi Betes are also chosen at this time. In 1956 Indiana Beta had the unusual privilege of initiating three juniors, rather than the usual two, into the chapter. They were Bob Stoothoff, Darrell Lance, and Art Kovacs.

The offices of the Wabash chapter of Phi Beta Kappa are: Dr. Walter Fertig, president, Dr. Warren Shearer, vice president, and Dr. John Charles, secretary-treasurer.

Tau Kappa Alpha

TKA is a national honorary for Wabash men especially interested in speech. Requirements for acceptance into this group consist of either having participated in intercollegiate debate or membership on the Speakers' Bureau for at least two years. Excellence in the Baldwin Oratorical Contest is an optional prerequisite for eligibility. Besides his work in forensics, the candidate for TKA must be in the upper one-third of his class. Dr. Vic Powell is advisor to the group and Bob Hurt was president this year.

Blue Key

Blue Key is an honorary organization for Wabash men who are campus leaders but have also maintained a respectable scholastic average. Juniors and seniors who have demonstrated their capabilities in activities, in athletics, and in scholarship are eligible for membership. Blue Key awarded its scholarship trophy to Sigma Chi this year. Clarence Mann was president of Blue Key for 1956-57.

Eta Sigma Phi

Classics students are honored by selection to Eta Sigma Phi, the national classics fraternity. Scholastic superiority in Latin or Greek is the primary prerequisite for membership. Jack Stodghill is president of Eta Sigma Phi and Dr. Ted Bedrick is the advisor.

Pi Delta Epsilon

Active participation in journalism at Wahash is rewarded by selection to Pi Delta Epsilon. Work on one of the publications for at least one and one-half semester is the prerequisite for this national honory. Pi Delta Epsilon holds dinner meetings occasionally and initiates new members each spring. Mr. Bob Harvey is faculty advisor and Bob Stoothoff was president of Pi Delt this year.

Sigma Pi Sigma

Wabash men who have excelled in physics are invited to join this honorary. At the monthly meetings of Sigma Pi Sigma, physicists, local and from other schools, speak or lead discussions on topics pertaining to the world of physics. Dr. Lewis Salter acts as advisor and Dave Schreiber was president this year.

Delta Phi Alpha

Requirements for membership in Delta Phi Alpha are demonstrated interest and academic excellence in German. Membership in the German Club always precedes selection to this national organization. The candidates for Delta Phi Alpha go through pledgeship during the second semester and must prepare a special project pertaining to the German language or culture. Dr. Joe Height acts as faculty advisor to the group. Its president this year was Dave Schreiber.

Sigma Xi

Outstanding achievement in science is the main requirement for initiation into Sigma Xi. Its local membership includes faculty men, townspeople, and several senior science members. Wabash and DePauw have a joint club of Sigma Xi. At its regular meetings a talk on some phase of science is usually given. The officers of Sigma Xi from Wabash are Dr. Ted Bedrick, vice president and Dr. Eliot Williams, secretary-treasurer.

COUNCILS

Senior Council

In the absence of an all-school governing body the Wabash Senior Council acts in that capacity. Since it is Wabash tradition for students not to be under a great deal of institutional discipline, the Senior Council functions as an intermediary between the student body and the administration. It also carries out the freshman indoctrination program. One senior from each fraternity and four independents make up the Senior Council. The officers of the Senior Council this year were Dave Orr, president, Bob Mace, vice-president, Dave Wiley, secretary, and Sterling Robbins, treasurer.

Campus Center Board

The Campus Center Board is a group of six students and two faculty members, Mr. Bob Mitchum, Director of the Campus Center, and Dr. Ted Bedrick. The Board sees that the Campus Center is used to its best advantage. It sponsored several excellent movies and a jazz concert. The Boardarranged Pre-Exam Brawls were once again very successful. Joe Michael was president of the Campus Center Board this year, with Joe Mitchell succeeding him second semester.

Interfraternity Council

This year's IFC was a much more functional body than it has been in the past. It undertook plans for a constitution which would among other things, stabilize rush procedure. The IFC also instituted Fraternity, Brotherhood, Community Day on which fraternity men united to collect money for the cancer, polio, and heart funds. The IFC planned a bigger and better Pan-Hel dance using "Underwater Fantasy" as the theme. Two trophies were awarded this year for the highest pledge class grades. The Betas and Phi Psis tied for this honor. Hank Sheldon presided over the IFC.

PUBLICATIONS

Board of Publications

The Board of Publications is the governing body of The Bachelor and The Wabash. It is up to the members of the board to select men to edit these two publications and to head the News Bureau. They also distribute funds among the publications. The chairman of the Board this year was Bob Stootoff. Two faculty members, Mrs. Robert Harvey and Mr. Bob Mitchum, act as secretary and treasurer respectively.

Sitting: Mr. James J. Patterson, Don Caplinger, Mr. Robert S. Harvey, Dave Orr. Standing: Bob Stoothoff, Mr. Robert Mitchum, Burt Goldstein.

News Bureau

The News Bureau sends reports of noteworthy happenings at Wabash to newspapers in the students' hometowns and to the wire services. Thus, this student operated organization acts as the official school publicist. One of the News Bureau's main functions is to see that scores and writeups of Wabash sporting events are sent to the newspapers. Crawfordsville Journal Review reporter Jim Leeds, as sports publicity director, competently handled that job this year. Bill Monter was head of the News Bureau for 1956-57.

EDITORIAL STAFF-Sitting: Tino Balio, Dave O'Brien, Joe Spurgeon, Gary Aagesen. Standing: Jim Goubeaux, Charlie Goddard.

The Wabash

A year book, strictly speaking, is not journalism. It is photo-journalism. A yearbook is a picture book. With this in mind, an effort was made in the '57 Wabash to eliminate superflous copy and present larger, better photo coverage of the highlights and commonplaces of the school year. Yearbook copy, we feel, has a great tendency to go unread, so it was eliminated to the greatest extent possible.

The success of this book in telling the story of a Wabash year depends, therefore, on its two able photographers, Charlie Goddard and Ralph Haas. To them must go the credit if the book is a good one. To the editor must go the blame for not employing their talents to the fullest if the book is poor.

The Bachelor

There were no major changes in Bachelor policy in 1956-57. Editors George Seidensticker and Steve Ellis retained Dave Orr's program of restricting the Bachelor copy to news from the Wabash campus. There has been, over the past year, an attempt to enliven the writing and to extend coverage. The style has been a bit more personal in nature and was bolstered by the addition of a new column, "The Bull Session". This year, in bringing about broader coverage, the Bachelor interviewed everything from a chapel termite to Governor Handley. Working for the Bachelor is one of the most time-consuming jobs on campus. The most coveted positions on the Bachelor are on the editorial staff and competition is keen for these positions. The Bachelor business staff, headed by Ron Litterst, handles all financial problems and works out the budget.

The Wabash debate team had another successful year, compiling a record of thirty wins and eighteen losses. The topic this year was-Resolved: The United States should discontinue direct economic aid to foreign countries. Hal Hovey and Dick Havel argued that affirmative case for most of the season. There were several negative combinations. Among the highlights of the season was the appearance of Havel and Hovey on television in a debate at Michigan State. This combination, recognized as one of the outstanding affirmative teams in the state, took part in a model debate at Butler against Butler's equally outstanding negative team. In March, Havel and Bob Hurt took on G. M. K. Morgan of the University of Bristol and M. L. Davies of University College of North Wales in the annual British debate. Dr. Vic Powell is the debate coach.

Speakers Bureau

The Speakers Bureau exists to enable Wabash men to become more proficient in public speaking. It arranges speaking engagements for its members with various school, church, and social organizations. This year the Speakers Bureau arranged over one hundred engagements. The subjects used by its members range from humorous readings to informative lectures.

DRAMATICS

Scarlet Masque

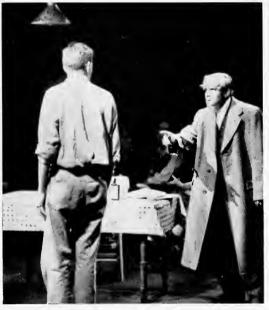

Now associated with Alpha Psi Omega, the Scarlet Masque carried on another very successful season.

The first play put on by the Masque was "The Drunkard," a 19th century melodrama. The winter performance was an outstanding adaption of "Macbeth" with Darrell Lance in the title role.

The annual playwriting contest was won this year by Dick Havel. Fred Wampler and John Pence were second and third, respectively. These one act plays were presented in the round in Tuttle Hall.

But if one play were to be chosen as the outstanding accomplishment of the season, it would have to be the spring performance "Teahouse of the August Moon" with Bill Morgan and Dan Millar in the leading roles.

Darrell Lance was president of the Masque this year. Mr. Charles Scott and Mr. Don Baker are faculty advisors and directors of the productions.

MUSIC

Mr. Bob Mitchum teaches all the music classes offered at Wabash in addition to directing both the band and glee club. He is also director of the campus center and dormitories.

Band

The Wabash Band, a loosely organized group, operates primarily for the enjoyment of its members. The band lends inspiration to the Wabash men at football and basketball games and pep rallies. It also gave two chapel concerts this year. The band is made up of students and Dr. Walter Fertig, representing the faculty with his French horn. Bob Mitchum is the impresario of the band and Bob Schackley acts as president.

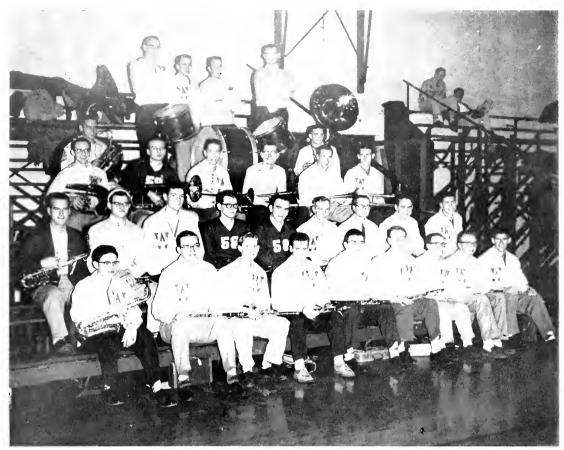

Glee Club

Under the very able direction of Bob Mitchum, the Glee Club has enjoyed one of its best seasons. It has now taken its place among the outstanding singing groups in the Midwest.

Along with its successful concerts throughout Indiana and Illinois, the Glee Club gave two joint concerts this year; one with DePauw on the steps of the War Memorial in Indianapolis and the other with Western College for Women. Pete Schwarz was president this year.

POLITICS

Public Affairs Forum

The Public Affairs Forum sponsored several political activities at Wabash this year. It brought about the pre-election appearances of Senator Sparkman of Alabama and Governor-to-be Handley to speak for the cause of their respective parties. Paul Butler's spring chapel speech was sponsored by the P.A.F. Dr. Phil Wilder is faculty advisor to the group, and John Pence was president this year.

Political Union

The Political Union is somewhat of an honorary club in that its members are chosen on the basis of their relative interest in Politics. The majority of those in the Union have expressed a desire to go into politics. The goal of this organization is to meet and talk to political dignitaries on an informal basis. Clarence Mann presided over the Political Union this year.

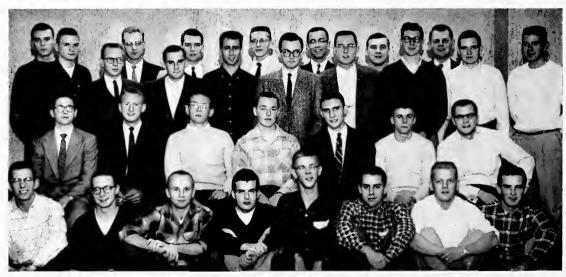

Will Hays Club

The Young Republicans worked hard this year for their party and were well rewarded for their labor as the GOP swept to victory. They pitted Sen. Dick Ristine and Clarence Mann against a democratic team in a preelection debate. The Will Hays Club sent delegates to all the big Young Republican conventions this year. Jim Buchanan headed the Club.

Tom Marshall Club

In the past election year of 1956, members of the Tom Marshall Club aided their parties cause by assisting at the polls. Prior to election day the Young Democrats along with the Will Hays Club and the P.A.F. sponsored a debate with the topic; Resolved: The Eisenhower Administration should be continued. Dr. Herb Lederer and Steve Ellis took the negative for the Demos. Dr. Vic Powell is advisor to the group and Jim Goubeaux was president.

RELIGION

Christian Federation

The Christian Federation is a non-denominational group made up of members of every religious affiliation. It has sponsored several all-school lectures. The Federation is a new club and was instigated with the idea of making religion a more influential force on campus. Darrell Lance was president this year.

College Club

The College Club is an organization for the Wabash Presbyterians, and is a member of the Indiana Collegiate Westminister Fellowship. At its meetings, the club was addressed by leading churchmen of various denominations about subjects usually connected with theology. Jerry Evans was president of the College Club and Dr. Harry Cotton was faculty advisor.

Christian Science Club

At its weekly meetings, the Christian Science Club holds discussions on the different facets of their faith and occasionally is addressed by outside speakers. The club sponsored a lecture open to the entire student body by Frank T. Hord, a prominent Washington D. C. Christian Scientist. Dr. Ed Haenisch is faculty advisor to the group and Bob Little was president this year.

Newman Club

The Newman Club is an organization for Catholics on the Wabash campus. Once a month its members attend mass and receive communion as a group. The Newman Club, as an affiliate of the Christian Federation, has been instrumental in bringing speakers to Wabash to talk on religious subjects. Mr. Chuck Sanders is faculty advisor and Bob Hegburg led the Club this year.

CLUBS

Alpha Phi Omega

All former boy scouts are eligible for membership in APO. They devote their time to various activities which benefit the college and community. Each year APO decorates the campus at Christmas time. They usher at Scarlet Masque performances and sell refreshments at athletic events. They also are available for work in special events. Gary Gloster led APO this year. Dr. Ed Haenisch is faculty advisor to the group.

W-Men's Club

Wabash men who have received their letter make up the W-men's club. This organization sells programs at football games. The big news from W-men's Club this year was a dance which it co-sponsored with the Sphinx Club. Plans for a possible all-school dance next year sponsored by both clubs were made. Tom Marchando led W-men's Club this year.

Sphinx Club

The Sphinx Club is a national honorary for athletes. At Wabash selection to Sphinx can also be made on the basis of campus achievement as well as athletic prowess. Men who have been in varsity athletics or have been outstanding in intransurals are eligible. The Sphinxers white caps signify that they have endured the strenuous initiation and can reap the benefits of the Club. These involve biennial parties and occasional dinner gettogethers at various houses. Bob Allen was president of the club this year.

Radio Club

The Radio Club was fairly active this year. Plans were made for the setting up of their own station in Goodrich Hall and a program was instituted for the novice members to obtain their General Class licenses. Dr. Lewis Salter was the faculty advisor, and Rex Mc-Keever served as president.

I M A

Bolstered by 120 members the first semester and 85 the second, the Independent Men's Association enjoyed one of its most active years. It sponsored the annual Homecoming Dance last fall and held two other dances for its members. Joe Michael headed the I.M.A. this year.

German Club

Anyone interested in German may join the German Club. The activities of this club include regular meetings where talks about Germany, its language and culture, are delivered. Mike Plummer was president of the German Club and the members of the German department are the faculty advisors.

Arts Forum

The Forum sponsored several events on campus this year. It put on a series of art movies which were well attended and set up art exhibits in Tuttle Hall. Faculty lectures and music programs were also on the Forum's activities program. Bill Monter was president this year.

Photography Club

At their bimonthly meetings, the Wabash camera bugs are treated to talks and films on photography. Members of the club have been asked to take pictures of the Wabash campus for use in the school publicity magazines. Dr. Eugene Weaver advises the Photography Club and Charlie Goddard headed the group this year.

IN THE WABASH TRADITION: ATHLETICS

Bill Gabbert goes up between two defenders to make a catch of a Lodovisi pass in Butler territory.

FOOTBALL

The dawn of a new football season brought many changes in the 1956 Wabash football squad. Gone were nine senior lettermen from the 1955 team, which compiled a fine 5-3-1 record. Also some old faces were in new places this year. Tom Hankinson, All Little State end in '55, was now at halfback. Tom Marchando, All Little State guard, was now at fullback. Bill Gabbert, starting fullback, for two years was moved to right halfback. Senior Vic Lodovisi was quarterback for his second year. The ends were Bob Allen and Sterling Robbins; tackles, Gil Shoaf and Max Servies; guards, Bob Weist, Fred Pipin, and Larry Grodzicki; and center, Dick Dayoob. This team faced the toughest schedule of recent years with the most untried team of Frazier's tenure.

The Little Giants opened the season at Albion by defeating them 26-7. Hankinson and Marchando each scored a touchdown, and Hankinson passed for one to Allen. Gabbert accounted for the remaining score. The Cavemen led at halftime 14-7 and added two more scores in the final period.

The following weekend the Little Giants again traveled into Michigan. This time to invade Hope College in a night game. The arclights didn't seem to bother the team as they romped to an easier than expected 40-7 triumph. Hankinson scored three times, twice on passes from Lodovisi. Gabbert caught another pass for a touchdown, while plunging for a second. The final score came on a plunge by Ron Bean.

The first home game of the season proved to be an upset victory over Washington of St. Louis by a count of 27-7. The contest was marked by a rugged Wabash defense which stopped the Washington single wing attack in its tracks. The tone of the game was set on the opening kickoff when Hankinson raced 91 yards to put the Cavemen ahead to stay. Molchan and Gabbert scored on passes from Hankinson and Lodovisi, respectively. The final tally came on an end around by Robbins.

Homecoming pitted Wabash against one of the best small college teams of the country, Heidelberg. Both teams were undefeated and Heidelberg was rated second in the nation's small colleges at the time, while Wabash was selected as fifth. The Little Giants chances took a turn for the worse as Gil Shoaf. Wabash's big tackle, was injured during the pre-game drill. Brian Bragg, a freshman, stepped in and played in top competition for the first time, turning in a creditable performance. The Princes scored on an 88 yard drive the first time they got the ball, but the Cavemen came right back to score at the start of the second quarter on a pass to Gabbert from Lodovisi. In the second half Hankinson scored twice to put Wabash ahead 20-14, but a last minute touchdown set up by a 50 yard pass pushed Heidelburg over the top 21-20.

Fred Schwaner, protected by excellent blocking, skirts right end against Washington and Lee.

A long trip to Sewanee proved successful and the Little Giants picked up their fourth victory in five games. Hankinson, Marchando, and Gabbert had things pretty much their own way and the final tally was 23-6.

The away game at Ohio Wesleyan marked the return of Shoaf to the lineup, but also the injury of Tom Hankinson in the second half, after he had run wild in the first half with two touchdowns to carry Wabash to a 20-0 lead. Gabbert accounted for the other two seores. In the final period the Bishops seored twice against the reserves to make the final score 27-19.

For Dad's Day the Little Giants easily trimmed a Washington and Lee team 34-0. The game was played mostly by reserves, who put on a surprising show of strength. Marchando, Gabbert, and Traviola paced the attack on the ground, while Lodovisi took eare of the air attack.

The Butler game in Indianapolis marked the return of Hankinson, but it was to prove of no avail. Wabash scored to take the lead 7-6 with only a few minutes left in the half, but the Bulldogs came back aided by two 15-yard penalties and a long run to lead 17-7 at the half. This day Butler was not to be denied and the final tally was Butler 26, Wabash 7.

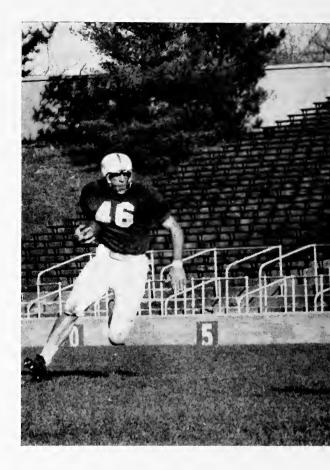

The game with DePauw ended in a hard fought 7-7 tie. The Little Giants pushed DPU all over the field, but could not get the ball over the goal the several times they were knocking on the door in the second half. Wabash led at half time 7-0, and DePauw got their 7 early in the second half.

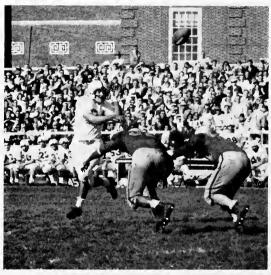

The MVP was Tom Hankinson, honorary captain Tom Marchando, and Gil Shoaf signed a contract with the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Coaches

The head football coach and athletic director of Wabash is Garland Frazier. A graduate of Ball State, Frazier is in his sixth year at Wabash. His six teams have won 36, lost 12, and tied 5. Walt Bartkiewicz is second in command as line coach. Bartkiewiecz is an Indiana University graduate. Chuck Sanders, another Indiana graduate, was backfield coach for the second year. A newcomer, Dick Stebbins, is the trainer of the squad. Dick also is an Indiana graduate.

BASKETBALL

Optimism and youth were the keynotes of the 1956-57 basketball team. A starting team made up of only one junior, Ben Fellerhoff; three sophomores, Mike Costello, Sherm Franz, and Bob Wedgeworth; and one freshman, Tom Bennett, began the season. The winter brought on many changes in the starting lineup as Head Coach Bob Brock searched for a winning combination. Hal Traviola, Buck Dennis, John Hollett, and Duane Axel all saw plenty of action as the year progressed. After a rather disastrous early half of the season in which the record was 3-9, the right combination of Fellerhoff, Dennis, Traviola, Wedgeworth, and Bennett began to click and won five of the last six games to give the team an overall record of 8-10. Included in those games were upsets of Butler and De-Pauw to highlight the season.

The Little Giants opened the season with a loss to St. Joseph by eight points. Costello pumped in 24 points and Fellerhoff added 23 to lead the Wabash attack. Franklin proved to be the first victim of the Cavemen 70-68. Fellerhoff and Hollett each scored sixteen, and Wedgeworth and Bennett each had fif-

Next followed two losses on the road at Butler and Ball State. During vacation the Little Giants traveled to the annual Quantico Marines Invitational Tournament. The Cavemen lost their first game to Belmont-Abbey 62-51. In their second contest the Big Red downed Moravian College 74-62. Costello and Bennett led the scoring with eighteen and seventeen points respectively. The Cavemen lost a close game to St. Michael's of Vermont 68-72 in their finale.

The first game after vacation was a defeat at the hands of DePauw at Greencastle 54-65. A cold evening at the free throw line cost the Little Giants a chance to upset the high flying Tigers. Fellerhoff was the leading scorer with 22.

The Big Red suffered their second setback at the hands of St. Joseph 66-72. They next traveled to Chicago to pick up their third win by defeating the U. of Chicago 70-63. Ben Fellerhoff broke Jay Crittenden's school scoring record by dumping in 36 points. The old record was 35 points.

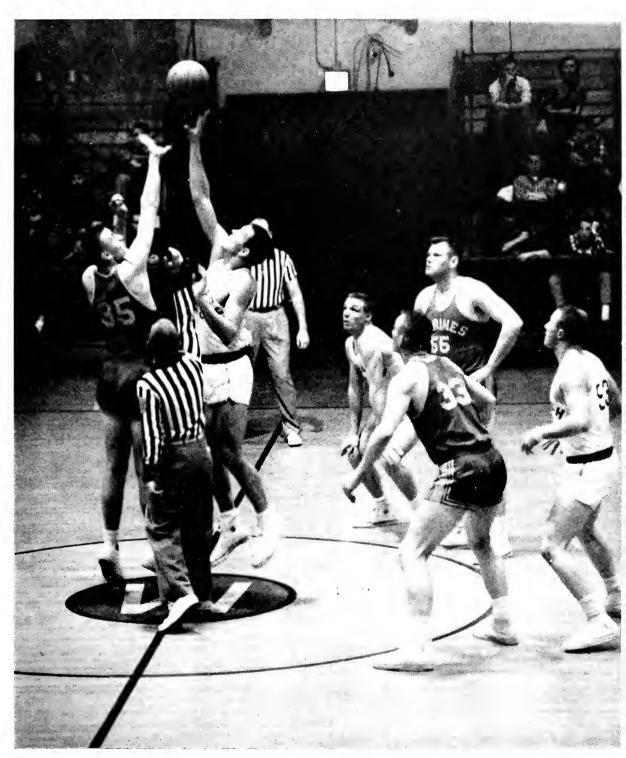

Returning home the Cavemen lost a close contest to Ball State 74-83 after leading the entire game. This was followed by a defeat at the hands of a powerful Quantico Marine squad, 83-72.

Bennett scored 30 and Fellerhoff added 23 as the Little Giants upset Big Ten conscious Butler, 77-67. Wabash led all the way after Buck Dennis scored on a jump in the first minute. The rebounding of Dennis, Fellerhoff, and Wedgeworth was superlative against the much taller Butler team.

The Cavemen next traveled to Aurora to post a 100-87 victory. Traviola scored 28, Fellerhoff 23, and Wedgeworth 17. Southwestern was the next victim of the now rampaging Little Giants, 97-73. Led by Dennis' 15 point first half the Cavemen made short work of the southerners. Playing without the services of Dennis, and for a half without Fellerhoff because of a scorekeeper's error on fouls the Big Red lost on a last second shot at Franklin 70-72.

Returning home Wabash set a new school scoring record against Aurora, 109-65. Tom Bennett also broke the school scoring record for the second time of the season with 43 points. He hit 19 of 26 from the floor for a .731 percentage, while the team hit .511.

Wabash takes the jump to open the Quantico game, center Ben Fellernoff doing the honors.

The final game against N.C.A.A. bound DePauw ended in another upset victory for Wabash, 65-62. Bennett was high scorer with 23. Again the rebounding of Fellerhoff and Dennis plus some dramatic tipins by Wedgeworth against the rangy DPU five turned the tide.

Ben Fellerhoff was elected MVP and Buck Dennis was picked as Honorary Captain for the year.

TRACK

The 1957 Wabash Track Team faced a difficult schedule. Gone from the preceeding year were five lettermen who piled up many firsts and seconds in their cinder careers. The 1956 team compiled an impressive record which the 1957 team must strive to surpass.

From seven lettermen and several promising freshmen Coach Huntsman fashioned the team. The returning lettermen included: George Seidensticker in the dashes and broad jump, Bob Stoothoff in the mile and 880, Bob Litschert in the 440, 220, and the relays, Tom Steele in the high hurdles and the high jump, Walt Inman in the 880 and relays, Ken Manaugh in the 440 relays, and Ron Stasch in the pole vault.

Three of the more promising freshmen were Warren Hall in the 2 mile, mile, and 880; Lee Jones, a high hurdler, and Tom Bennett in the 880. Other freshmen include Peebles, Huff, Sage, Price, Boone, Lambright, Birch, Woodham, Vincent, and Edwards. Other upperclassmen are Hill, West, Townsend, Smith, Brockfield, and Swayzee.

In the first home meet of the season the Big Red romped away from Indiana Central by a score of 89 to 42. The team also placed well in the Naperville and Wabash Relays.

Some of the early season times were; :25.0 in the 440 by Litschert, 10.09 in the 2 mile and 1:58 in the 880 by Hall. Ron Stasch set a new school record in the pole vault at the Naperville Relays by going 12'6".

Jon Peebles narrowly misses a 5'8" high jump attempt.

The Wabash Relays

The 1957 Wabash Relays were held on April 6. A record field of 260 athletes, representing 11 colleges were present for the fourth annual running of the relays.

The pre-meet favorites were Beloit and DePauw with Hanover rated as dark horse. On the day of the meet, despite a soggy track and a cold, strong wind, three new meet records were set. Hanover posted a new broad jump mark, Capital broke the old shot put record, and Indiana Central set a new record in the high hurdle shuttle relay.

Hanover picked up four firsts, while the host Little Giants won three firsts in the sprint medley, mile relay, and the pole vault.

George Trautman of Capital was voted the outstanding individual performer and Carroll Hamilton of Hanover was runner up.

Coach J. Owen Huntsman is a graduate of Earlham College. He has been on the Wabash staff since 1949. He has coached several excellent track and cross country teams while at Wabash.

BASEBALL

In 1956 the Wabash baseball team did not do as well as anticipated. Although not compiling a winning record, they posted victories over rival DePauw and an upset of Indiana University. Bruce Swanson turned in a fine effort in gaining the win over I.U.

The 1957 prospects looked little better. The team lost its first two games to Purdue 12 to 0, and to Central Michigan 5 to 1. The season looks as if it will be concerned primarily with rebuilding. Several promising freshmen and sophomores are out this year, and in future years a fine team should develop.

The pitching staff consisted of four veterans, Swanson, Del Gregory, Bob Charles, and Jim McVay. The catcher was senior Dave Parry, last year Most Valuable Player. In the infield Bob Mace, Tom Reetz, Art Castellani, and Bob Carr supported the pitchers, along with newcomer Fred Scott.

In the outfield seniors Bob Hobson, and Vic Lodovisi were aided by Bill Hamer, Dick Huston and Mike Molchan. Many early season games were called off due to inclement weather, which also limited the workouts of the team. This handicaped the squad in its first few contests, since most of our opponents had indoor facilities. In the first game against Purdue the team picked up only one hit, while in each succeeding game the hitting and fielding improved along with the pitching. By the later part of the spring the team was rounding into shape and prospects for next year appeared improved. Bruce Swanson pitched an early season two-hitter against DePauw.

Coach Walt Bartkiewicz, a 1950 graduate of Indiana University, heads the Wabash nine. He is line coach of the football team, supervises the Intramural competition, and runs a gymnastics program in the winter.

WRESTLING

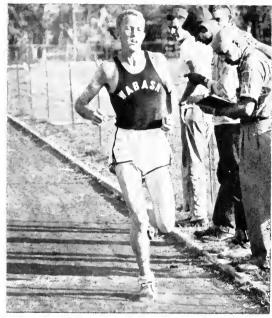

The wrestling team completed its first full season of intercollegiate competition with a commendable six won, three lost record. This year's starting team consists of Ron Anderson, 123 pounds; Dave Barton, 130; John Horner, 137; Ron Rossie, 147; Fred Lamb, 157; Fred Pipin, 167; Tom Marchando, 177; and Gil Shoaf, heavyweight. Horner was elected most valuable player. The squad faced excellent teams for its first year. Wheaton and Eastern Illinois were probably the most formidable opponents. These two teams and Central Michigan were the only ones to trip the grapplers this year. The matmen tallied victories against Findlay (twice), Indiana Central, Central Michigan, Chicago, and Kenyon.

CROSS COUNTRY

The cross-country team did much better this season than was expected. Having only three returning lettermen, Grant Van Horne, the team's oustanding runner last year; Bob Stootoff, and Oval Myers, the thinlies won four and lost four and finished third in the Little State. Bolstering the squad considerably were freshmen Warren Hall and Al Hall lost only two dual meets and finished second in the Little State, and Huff was always among the leaders. Van Horne unfortunately suffered from various ailments last fall and never reached top form. The most most satisfying victory for the harriers was against Butler as the smashed the Bulldog runners in a near sweep. Coach Owen Huntsman is expecting a strong team next year built around Hall and Huff.

Warren Hall comes down the stretch for the Big Red.

Al Huff, Bob Stoothoff, Warren Hall, Ken Manaugh, Jon Gregory.

Al Schuster sinks one on a wet green as Bill Locker looks on.

GOLF

The 1957 golf team promises to be the best ever assembled at Wabash. With returning lettermen Al Schuster, John Banghart, Tom Black, Dick Jack, and Chris Johnson, freshmen Bill Locker and Bob Layne, and veteran returnee Dave Barton, the golf outlook appears bright. All members of the squad are capable of breaking eighty. The team has been undefeated in five matches so far this year including a hard earned victory over a very tough Bradley squad. On this year's schedule are matches with several other larger schools including Indiana and Illinois.

The 1956 team compiled a record of fourteen wins, five losses and two ties, the best in Wabash golf history. Coach Chuck Sanders' linksters had to be satisfied with a sixth place finish in the Little State, however. John Banghart was chosen most valuable player and John Berry was elected honorary captain.

TENNIS

Lead by last year's most valuable player, John Hollet, the Wabash tennis team is looking forward to a successful season. Lettermen Dave Krizman, Bill McCoy, Ken Groskopf, Larry Faller, and Max Riedelsburger, Quin Benson, John Johnson, and Tim Talbott round out the squad. Bad weather hampered outdoor practice early in the season but the team rounded into good shape. Coach Bob Brock expects improvement over last year's adequate but still not satisfying season.

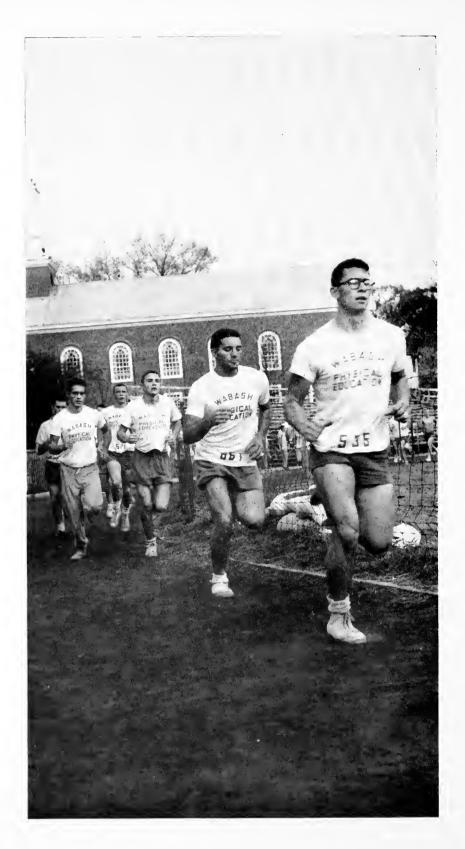

So far this year the tennis team has won two while dropping none. The victories were over St. Joseph and Indiana State. On this year's schedule are several tough matches, including Indiana and Purdue.

INTRAMURALS

Intramurals are an important part of the Wabash athletic program. The intramural program, under the direction of Walt Bartkiewicz this year, is successful both in terms of spirit of competition and in extent of participation. It encompasses all sports: football, cross-country, tennis, and volleyball in the fall; basketball, bowling, badminton, pool, ping-pong, and handball in the winter; and softball, track, golf, and horseshoes in the spring.

Many a frustrated ex-high school athlete (and faculty member) has worked of his tensions and momentarily revived old glories by giving his all for his team in intramural competition. The value of the program extends to the spirit of rivalry which it engenders among the residences of the college.

The Betas repeated as intramural champs in 1956. The Delts and Phi Psis were second and third respectively.

B. J. Smith rounds end in a Phi Gam-Beta game.

Buck Dennis and Jim Padgett add the intramural football trophy to the Delt mantel.

1957 Intramural Competition

To start the season, the Delts won football going away. Phi Psi finished second, two games behind. IM football, supposedly of the touch variety, was as rough as ever this year. The Betas won the cross-country competition and the Delts coped the tennis crown.

As the intramural race moved indoors, the Betas promptly won volleyball with a perfect 10-0 record. Basketball was won by the Delts who beat out the Phi Delts in a playoff. The big news in IM basketball was the arrangement of an All-Star game between the Delts and a select team made up of stars from the other residences. The All-Stars, led by Dan Steele and Art Castellani, downed the Delts in a thriller, 43-42. The Bachelor sponsored the event. Three houses were hosts to state-wide intra-fraternity basketball tournaments this year. The Betas, Phi Psis, and Phi Delts held quite successful gatherings of their Indiana chapters. Sigma Chi took the indoor track meet with the Phi Delts finishing a close second. Three records were broken and one tied. The Phi Gams made off with the intra-mural badminton crown.

With softball and several minor sports still to be completed, the Delts hold a rather substantial lead in the race for the intramural trophy.

President Trippet

Dr. Trippet carried on as president of the college with all the dignity and wisdom of his distinguished predecessors. In his first full year in office, President Trippet has not deviated from the Wabash tradition. He has, however, procured several grants for the College from major businesses all over the country and began the $5,000,000 improvement program.

Dr. Trippet began his higher education in 1926 when he entered Wabash as a freshman. He graduated Summa Cum Laude and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Upon receiving his A.B., he was awarded a coveted Rhoades Scholarship. Shortly after receiving his M.A. from Oxford, Dr. Trippet returned to Wabash to teach history. In 1941 he became Dean of the College. In his fifteen years in this office. Dr. Trippet became known as one of the outstanding deans in the country, serving as president of the American Association of College Deans. He then ascended to the presidency in 1956.

PRESIDENT BYRON K. TRIPPET

Dean Rogge

Dr. Rogge completed his first full year as Dean of the College proving himself to be as adroit in administrative matters as in education. Besides entertaining the students with his wit in chapel, Dean Rogge handled all problems which came to the Dean's office with an expert hand.

Before taking over the Dean's busy job, Dr. Rogge was an associate professor of Economics. He and Dr. Van Sickle co-authored "Introduction to Economics", a now widely used college text. Dean Rogge did his undergraduate work at Hastings College, received his Masters at Nebraska, and his Ph.D. at Northwestern.

Dr. Benjamin A. Rogge, Dean of the College

Dean Kurtz

Dr. Kurtz, as Dean of Students, has proved this new office to be important and useful to the college. He has taken a personal interest in many of the problems which confront the administration concerning student life at Wabash. Dean Kurtz is also an assistant professor of history.

Dr. Kurtz received his undergraduate education at Princeton University and got his Ph.D. at the University of Pennsylvania. He came to Wabash from Athens College in Greece where he had been teaching on an exchange program. He formerly taught at Kent School and the University of Pennsylvania. Dean Kurtz is a member of the American History Association.

A Beta date shows off her Christmas gift.

Beta Theta Pi

On Saturday, November 17, 50 Beta alumni dating back to the class of 1906 got together at the Beta house to celebrate the 110th year of Tau Chapter.

The pledges they saw at that time turned out to be worthy actives. They won the freshman scholarship trophy and established themselves in campus activities.

In intramurals the Betas have spent the year battling for first place. Betas are strong in Scarlet Masque, Glee Club, Campus Center Board, BACHELOR, WABASH, and track.

Jim Cottingham served first semester as president and he was succeeded in February by Joe Mitchell.

The delts relax before dinner.

Delta Tau Delta

The Delts delved into a strong reserve of athletes to lead all fraternities in intramurals this year, but they have had to fight to stay on top. Their undefeated football team set the pace last fall.

In the first semester they had a grade average above the all men's average. They are particularly strong in journalism, "campus politics," Glee Club, and basketball.

On May 25, the Delts honored their chapter advisor, Larry Scheaffer. Mr. Scheaffer has the most years of service in the history of Delta Tau Delta fraternity—35 years.

Don Caplinger served first semester as president and John Pence was elected president in the second semester.

The Kappa Sigs gather for a songfest.

Kappa Sigma

The Kappa Sigs must be called a kind-hearted fraternity. They have joined the Foster Parents Plan, Inc. Next year they will contribute to the support of an underprivileged European child.

Back here at Wabash, they showed considerable strength in cheerleading, Bachelor, Arts Forum, wrestling, and track.

They dropped in scholarship the first semester, and showed improvement in the second semester.

In intramurals they had good volleyball and softball teams.

Bob Stewart served as president the first semester, and Wayne Francis presides now.

The Lambda Chis viewing the tube during the presidential campaign.

Lambda Chi Alpha

The Lambda Chis are stronger and more united than last year. To illustrate this fact thy can boast 100% participation in intramurals.

The house grade average has stabilized and is on the upswing.

The Lambda Chis are strong in Scarlet Masque, German Club, Newman Club, W-Mens Club, and track.

The addition of a pool table to their game room has added immeasurably to leisure hours about the house.

Dick Foss, newly elected president this spring, succeeded Don Moenning.

Phi Delta Theta

The Phi Delts had another active year. In athletics they had men on every varsity squad, including over half the starting teams in baseball and football. In intramurals they were in the first division all year. Phi Delta Theta was a respectable fourth in scholarship. Many campus leaders come from the Phi Delt house. They had the presidents of the Senior Council, Sphinx and W-men's clubs. Phi Delts were also active in the publications, forensics and the Scarlet Masque. The Wabash chapter was chosen the outstanding Phi Delt chapter in Indiana at their State Day. Vic Lodovisi and Bob Hurt led the Phi Delts this year.

The Phi Gams are a singing fraternity. They have many men in the Glee Club, won their state day songfest, and for the last three years they have won the interfraternity sing.

Last semester they took third in scholarship. The Phi Gams have strength in Scarlet Masque, Young Republicans, and the business side of publications.

Gene Pride served as president first semester and Dick Bottomley is the new president.

Officers of all Phi Gamma Delta chapters in Indiana met here in April for Section Convention.

Phi Kappa Psi

The big news from Phi Kappa Psi this year was their ascension from the second division in the scholarship rankings. They were second on campus and their pledge class finished in a tie for first. Phi Psi won the trophy for Pan Hel decorations in 1956. In intramurals they held their own, finishing high in the major sports. They had a number of men playing varsity sports with tennis being their forte. Many Phi Psis are active on campus, especially in the publications and Scarlet Masque. The presidents of Phi Kappa Psi this year were Dick Burket first semester and Bob Griesser the second.

Sigma Chi has enjoyed a good year. They stood first in scholarship for the first semester. Sigs won the Homecoming Decorations for the fourth time in five years. The Wabash chapter of Sigma Chi was voted best in the state at their State Day and Bob Stoothoff was selected the outstanding individual Sig in Indiana. The Sigs have men in athletics and activities; track and basketball on one hand, publications, Glee Club, and forensics on the other. Bob Stoothoff and Tom Kosko presided over Sigma Chi this year.

Wolcott and Morris

Walcott and Morris Halls house about seventy men, most of whom are freshmen. The dorms, along with the Campus Center, were part of the lavish construction program completed in 1954. They are probably the most comfortable living quarters on campus. They compete as a unit in intramurals under the name of Wol-Mor. Scholarship is the dorms was excellent this year and credit should be given to Joe Michael and Gaylord Smith, head counselors of Walcott and Morris respectively.

Kane, Scott and Kingery

Kane, Scott and Kingery are the three other dormitories for Wabash independent men. Living conditions in these residences are much like those of the fraternities. There are three or four men to each room, bringing about a general spirit of unity. Usually strong in intramurals Kin-Kan slipped a little this year. A good many of Wabash's outstanding athletes live in Kane, Scott, and Kingery. Kingery is the stronghold for nearly half the starting team in football. Sterling Robbins is head counselor for Kane House; Larry Grodzicki for Scott, and Ron Bean for Kingery.

The Editorship of the Wabash is reputed to be a single handed enterprise. To one who has had this experience, however, this is not the case. A yearbook is a cooperative endeavor. Without the aid and assistance of many, there would have been no 1957 Wabash. Thanks for this must be given:

to last year's editor, Bob Stoothoff, who helped this editor through his uncertain first days.

to the staff, particularly Chris Johnson, Rog Billings, and Dave O'Brien, who labored long and assisdously for little praise or acclaim.

to Tom Dewey and his ad-men for keeping us in the black.

to Ralph Haas and Charlie Goddard, the photographers, who never failed to come up with a picture in pinch.

to the pros, Chuck Mueller and Fred Noer of the Indianapolis Engraving Company, Mrs. Helen Bunker of Olan Mills, Jack Bundy of the S. K. Smith Company, all of whom made hurried trips to Crawfordsville to help an editor in distress.

to the men of Howell-Goodwin, who cooperated to give us the book on time.

These are the people who make yearbooks possible.

JIM GOUBEAUX,
Editor
